WARM FIGHT FOR SECOND PLACE

William and Mary and Richmond
College to Lock Horns This Afternoon.

Richmond College and William and Mary College will fight it out this afternoon in Broad Street Park for second honors in the race for the Eastern Division of Virginia college championship in baseball. Both teams must perform well behind Randolph-Macon College, which has won every championship game played so far, and lost only one game during the season.

On the result of the contest this afternoon will hang the point of precedence between Richmond College and William and Mary, and there is every probability of there being a hot fight for the place. Since their victory over Petersburg Saturday the Spiders believe that they still have a fighting chance to down the visitors, and will go into the game this afternoon with a full team and every man in good condition.

William and Mary started out the season with a team less strong than has represented that institution for some time, but during the season it has developed materially, until it is the favorite in the game this afternoon. The game will begin promptly at half-past 4 o'clock.

Some Baseball Talk

By HALF NELSON.

It does seem that the Colts hit the hard luck trail yesterday when the only score made in the game came because Titman made a great catch of a foul fly. Verbot held the Tars down to two measly hits, and every thing else was lovely without an error, but with Bousch on third base that high foul came to kill all chances. The foul was so far from home that Bousch galloped in before it could be sent to the plate.

The Colts rallied at the end of the game, but there is still that lack of heavy hitting that has kept many a good team at the bottom of the percentage column. The Colts scratched hits through, but never did get enough to bring a man home. On the other hand, the Tars were there for every chance, and when Bousch got his double bagger everything hit at the ball until the foul scored a run. Luck all the way through—but somehow of other the kind of luck that Richmond don't seem to play in.

Danville and Lynchburg came together for a nifty go yesterday, and Griffin and Morrissey both feel pretty good over their work. Both were in great form and received support worthy of the big leagues.

The championship of the South, or

M'GUIRE'S WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

High School Rallies in the Ninth,
but a Fly-Out Ruined All Chances to Win.

The championship of the interscholastic series, which has been in doubt for so long owing to the tie for the cup between the John Marshall High School and McGuire's University School, was definitely decided on yesterday afternoon at Broad Street Park, when McGuire's School won by the close score of 2 to 1. The manly rally made by the High School in the ninth inning made a heart-disease finish.

The showing made by McGuire's boys was up to the standard, but the High School exhibited nervousness in pinches, and several bonehead plays were pulled off, particularly on two occasions, when the ball was relayed to shut off a runner at the plate.

The inability to hit Hulcher, who has been saved during the entire series for the games against the High School, was directly responsible for the victory. In contrast with Hulcher, Van Pelt was well and happily fresh.

The absence of the players who had to be removed by Manager Echols, of McGuire's, for insubordination, had a strengthening effect rather than otherwise.

The first score of the game came in the fourth inning, when Hulcher slashed a hot liner down the third base line, stole second and reached third on Scott's infield out. Hulcher scored on Van Pelt's wild pitch. In the sixth inning, with Chambers and Hargrave on bases, Montgomery pulled down a drive from Stearns that seemed good for safe to the plate, but so doing he made the feature catch of the game.

In the same inning the High School lost a chance to score when Dyson fled out to deep left with the bases full.

In the seventh inning the McGuire's boys added two more runs to their column through the weakening of Van Pelt, who allowed a free pass, hit a batsman and allowed two safe hits. Cottrell's error on third was costly.

In a ninth inning rally by the High School Lipscomb took first on an error by Cottrell, stole second, and reached third on Padgett's strike-out. He scored on Montgomery's single. Dyson landed on a hot one for the only extra base hit of the game, and Montgomery tallied. Cottrell fanned.

can keep up the pace there seems to be a slight necessity of keeping Clarke. Clarke seems to be as wild as a man with toothache, and even at that can be batted by every least, so it seems from the very short spaces that he has worked for the Colts.

more reasonably, the Middle Atlantic baseball championship among colleges, seems to be a rather warm question between the University of Virginia and Washington and Lee University. The title has been claimed by the University of Virginia, and the Washington and Lee team is of the opinion that it has some chance for the ribbon.

In this contention it would seem that Washington and Lee is upheld by the greater number of colleges in the State, the college papers of which have published comments on the matter. The University of Virginia stands rather tonelessly in the matter, and so far has had nothing to say.

After several games that were as full of interest as any interscholastic games can be, the McGuire's School baseball team yesterday won the interscholastic championship of the city of Richmond from the John Marshall High School. The Richmond Academy, the only other team in the league, long since lost all chance of the interscholastic cup, and has not played either of the other teams for a week or two.

Gus Salve, who was brought to Richmond as a possibility, seems to have made good on the first futter. Norfolk went down before him like ten pins before a well rolled ball, and he had things all his own way. If he Easy Victory in Contest for Crotona Handicap at Belmont Park.

Belmont Park, N. Y., May 17.—Summerlike weather, together with a good crowd, drew a fairly good crowd to Belmont Park today, and the racing proved to be very interesting. Beson, a fast sprinter, was considered to be good enough to win, but was beaten off at the end.

Hornets Win Game.
Charlotte, N. C., May 17.—Anderson bunched three hits in the second inning of to-day's game, putting two men across, but after this Big Duvie tightened up and held them at his mercy, while Farmer weakened in the fifth, and the locals secured enough drives to cop the contest, 3 to 2. The pegging of Francis and the fielding of Cross, at third, were the outstanding features.

In to-day's Times-Dispatch appears the entry form for the North Carolina endurance run. The owners of motor cars who desire to take part in the run should fill out this blank carefully, being sure to name the driver, the assistant driver and the observer, also the price of the car, so that there may be no mistake about the division in which it belongs. All cars entered are in class A, but in class A there are seven divisions, and the cars are entered in the various divisions according to their price:

TR Divisions.
Division 1, for cars costing $500 and under.

A letter received yesterday from Tarboro, N. C., states that a car from that city will take part in the endurance run. Letters were also received from Arvonja stating that two cars will be entered from Arvonja. It is also expected that cars from Petersburg, Henderson, South Boston, Norfolk and Columbus, O., will enter.

Otis M. Alfriend, secretary of the Richmond Automobile Club, states that he expects to hear to-morrow from the contest board of the A. A. A. relative to the protests made to the awards in the Virginia endurance run. As soon as Mr. Butler, of the contest board, passes upon the protests, the eight cups offered as prizes in the Virginia endurance run will be presented to the winners.

Begin on June 7.
The North Carolina endurance run will take place on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 7, 8, 9, 10.
